

WITH POMP AND CEREMONY.

THE PAPA ALLEGATE'S RECEPTION AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

His Address on Unveiling the Statue of St. Michael's. He says Mass and Signs Vespers—Bishop Wigger Also Signs Vespers in the Monastery Church—Father Corrigan Kneels the Bishop's Ring and Greets Him Pleasantly—The Bishop Not Cordially Responsive—At Dinner Mr. Corbell Sits on One Side of Father Blakely and Bishop Wigger Sits on the Other.

Yesterday was a busy day for Mr. Battelli. He is a very early riser, and at 6:30 A. M. he was in the chapel of St. Michael's Monastery in West Hoboken celebrating first mass. There was a large attendance at that mass, and the usual congregation was present. Not many of them, however, discovered that the Apostolic delegate was the celebrant. Some of them did notice that there was something out of routine from the fact that two priests, instead of the usual altar boys, served the mass.

After the mass came breakfast, and then Mr. Battelli delivered an address in their own language to the Italian members of the congregation. There is a special service every Sunday morning in the basement of the church for Italians. Mr. Battelli's address was his great pleasure. He expressed his great pleasure in the spiritual work of his countrymen and the spiritual work of his countrymen and the spiritual work of his countrymen.

The Ablegate had little more than time to glance over the morning papers before he was summoned to assist at the pontifical mass. This followed at 8 o'clock the morning mass. The church was filled with people, and the altar was decorated with flowers. The altar boys were dressed in white, and the choir boys were dressed in white. The altar boys were dressed in white, and the choir boys were dressed in white.

The church connected with St. Michael's Monastery is capable of holding 3,500 persons. Its capacity was tested to the utmost at 10:30 yesterday morning when the numerous priests who were to assist at the pontifical mass were seated in the choir. The altar was decorated with flowers, and the altar boys were dressed in white.

The high altar and the smaller altars and shrines on either side were profusely decorated with flowers. The altar boys were dressed in white, and the choir boys were dressed in white. The altar boys were dressed in white, and the choir boys were dressed in white.

Bishop Wigger and the priests who were to assist him in the celebration of the mass came next. Mr. Battelli, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar. His two attendants took seats on either side of him. They were purple robes, the insignia of his place.

Bishop Wigger sang the mass. It was at first arranged that Mr. Seton should be the archdeacon, but later he was replaced by Father Blakely, the rector, delivered a brief address. He said in part:

"Dear children of St. Michael's Church, I have the distinguished honor as well as the inexpressible pleasure of introducing to you Mr. Battelli, the Apostolic delegate from the Holy See. This is a great honor, and I am sure that you will all be proud to have him here. He is a man of great learning and great piety, and he is a man of great learning and great piety."

The people of West Hoboken will cherish an everlasting remembrance of this honor, and will pray for the success of the great mission on which the delegate has come to this country. He has come here on a mission in the interest of peace, harmony, and good will. You will pray fervently for the success of his mission.

He has most willingly undergone great physical hardship and intense mental strain in his anxiety to promote the welfare of the Church in this country. The Pope guides the destinies of nations, because he is the greatest power on earth. His power is not of this world, but of the world to come. He is the greatest power on earth, and he is the greatest power on earth.

The Ablegate and his hosts and the visiting clergymen took a brief address. The Ablegate, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar.

The Ablegate and his hosts and the visiting clergymen took a brief address. The Ablegate, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar.

The Ablegate and his hosts and the visiting clergymen took a brief address. The Ablegate, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar.

The Ablegate and his hosts and the visiting clergymen took a brief address. The Ablegate, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar.

The Ablegate and his hosts and the visiting clergymen took a brief address. The Ablegate, escorted by Mrs. Seton and de Conello, came in last. The Ablegate, attired in a black cassock, with a white surplice, took a seat in the choir, which was prepared for him on the gospel side of the altar.

In connection with such a ceremony as the one in which we are now engaged, I was chosen from among my compatriots to be the orator to tell the people of St. Michael's of the great work of the Holy See.

It is a pleasure to me to take part in a ceremony of this kind. I am sure that you will all be proud to have him here. He is a man of great learning and great piety, and he is a man of great learning and great piety."

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

St. Michael's Monastery is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety. It is a place of great learning and great piety.

DID HE COMMIT SUICIDE?

PERCY F. JAFFRAY DIES AFTER DRINKING ACQUINONE AND WHISKY.

He Died of Heart Failure—The Fact that He Had Taken the Poison Ignored—Percy F. Jaffray, 22 years old, died at his home, 21 North High street, Mount Vernon, at 2 o'clock Saturday morning under circumstances that strongly suggest suicide.

His father, Richmond Jaffray, who was a well-known merchant, was the man who was found by the police. He was found by the police. He was found by the police. He was found by the police.

On Thursday morning Mr. Hall sent young Jaffray to Ferdinand Olive's drug store, at the corner of Stevenson and Mount Vernon streets, with a letter from his father, asking him to deliver the poison to the young man, and told him to tell Mr. Hall to come for it himself.

Mr. Hall went shortly afterward to Olive's, and seemed provoked that the medicine had not been given to the bearer of the order. Upon being asked the reason for his refusal, he said that he did not give it to him for several reasons.

The acconite is powerful and poisonous, and then young Jaffray's manner was not one to warrant my trusting him with such a drug. He seemed nervous, depressed, and worried about something.

Mr. Hall told Jaffray that he was entirely trustworthy, and that he was a man of good character. He was a man of good character. He was a man of good character. He was a man of good character.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

Lannan did not take the words to all acconite, and he was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised. He was very much surprised.

On Friday night Jaffray attended the performance of "Uncle Dan" at the Messenger from Jarvis Section. At the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Mount Vernon, and afterward, at 10:30 o'clock, he met George Lannan, a friend who drives a motor car.

WHAT THE TROUT WANTED.

It Was Grass Pike, and a Crane Gave the Secret Away.

Scranton, May 13.—Unless some one tells you where the creep holes are, you can't get to the shores of the Tunkahanna Creek. In the month of May, the trout are in the water. There is an impenetrable growth of alders on each side of the creek for more than three miles, and the four or five creep holes have been cut through the dense mass by the owners of the adjoining land.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss. After the native had tied a red shirt to an alder at the mouth of the creep hole, he and the fishermen went down the stream.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole. The native might be able to tell Tunkahanna trout with worms in that kind of water.

"White grub" is the name of the worm that the fishermen used. It is a worm that is found in the water. It is a worm that is found in the water. It is a worm that is found in the water.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

AN IDYL IN MIDSUMMER.

THE FLAVOR OF ROMANCE FLOATING ABOUT THE WHITE HOUSE.

July, the Month of Perfect Bloom, with its soft, warm, and sunny days, is the best time to visit the White House. The White House is a beautiful place, and it is a beautiful place. It is a beautiful place. It is a beautiful place.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

ABE BUZZARD AT LARGE.

A Newspaper-Made Deacon Who Was Never More Than a Chicken Thief.

"Abe Buzzard, known all over the country as the dreaded outlaw of the Welsh Mountains, in Lancaster county, Pa., got his reputation as a lawless capitalist and for less cause than any other citizen of his class that ever lived."

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

ON SECOND FLOOR MAY BE FOUND

AN EXHIBITION OF SOLID SILVERWARE WHICH, IN THE ATTENTION GIVEN TO BEAUTY OF FORM AND APPROPRIATENESS OF ORNAMENTATION, IS DISTINCTIVELY DIFFERENT FROM ANY OTHER STOCK TO BE SEEN IN NEW YORK.

All who are interested in artistic table furnishing—VISITORS OR BUYERS—are invited to inspect it.

Theodore B. Starr, 206 Fifth Ave., Madison Square.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.

On Monday a native, who had been to let, conducted two Scranton trout fishermen through a low and narrow creep hole, fifty or sixty feet long, where the boat lay at the edge of the stream on a bed of wet moss.

The creek averaged forty feet in width, and at a bend in it a forty-foot hole, the creep hole, was pulled in then and the boat allowed to float. Another half hour passed before the fishermen reached the end of the creep hole.